Community Canneries End Good Year

Community canning at the Appomattox and Pamplin Canneries has closed for the 1960 season. Instructors at both canneries reported the 1960 canning rate to be considerably above that of 1959.

Mrs. Emma Lemon reported that the Appomattox Cannery put up a total of 55,050 cans during the season. Mrs. A. R. Southall reported that Pamplin canned 23,669 cans during 1960.

These totals compared with 39,286 for Appomattox a year ago, and 16,199 for Pamplin.

Though a third more cans were processed at Appomattox, only 539 individuals used the cannery as compared to 572 last year. In addition to canning, 8,188 pounds of lard were rendered; 2,723 pounds of sausage prepared; 283 pounds of hamburger ground, and 1499 pounds of food prepared for freezing.

At Pamplin, 253 people used the cannery as compared with 295 reported for last year.

Day to day operations of the two community canneries were supervised as follows at Appomattox by Mrs. Emma Lemon, Mr. R. C. Beale, with the aid of Mr. Judson McDaniel; at Pamplin by Mrs. A. R. Southall with the aid of Mr. Howard Flood. Overall supervision of the two canneries comes under the Departments of Vocational Agriculture and Home Economics in the county. These Departments are staffed by Mrs. Madeline Thomas, Mrs. Lucy Green, Mr. H. B. Peak, Mr. R. N. Ashworth, and Mr. W. L. Motley. The canneries are operated by the County School Board as part of its educational system. Its purpose is to teach and help all people in the county to prepare food better and thus to raise the standard of living in the county.

Power Cut-Off In Appomattox Hit This A. M.

Electric current was off in the Appomattox area for approximately six hours today, following a power break-down near Pamplin. At about 4:15 A. M., an out-of-state car swerved off Route 460, about 1½ miles west of Pamlpn, hitting a power pole and severing it, with resulting power line break. The car was occupied by a soldier and wife and baby, headed for Fort Eustis. The soldier received a broken collar boen the wife, driver of the vehicle, and the baby, received bruises but no serious injury.

The accident caused a transformer to burn out, and Vepco crews had to work until 10:40 A. M. to restore service to Appomattox.

F.H.A. Program For Farmers

To raise the values of their farms and increase their incomes, a nomebr of Appomattox County farmers can now think in terms of better soil conservation practices, permanent pasture improvement, development and use of farm water supplies, irrigation, and good drainage.

The Farmers Home Administration has a loan program to help eligible farmers carry out these practices, reports Hunter P. Evans, County Supervisor.

Th emaking of soil and water conservation loans to farmers who are eligible is one of the functions of the agency's county office, located at Farmville.

Mr. Evans also has part-time office hours at Appomattox, at the ASC office on Tuesdays, from 9:00 to 9:30 A. M.

Treatment For Veterans

Emergency treatment of veterans in private hospitals may be paid for by the Veterans Administration only if the medical care is for a service-connected condition, Carlton W. Bragg, Officer in Charge of the Lynchburg VA office states.

The medical emergency must have been such that an attempt to secure admission to a VA hospital would have been hazardous to the veteran, he added.

oGssip would be less dangerous if there were more people unwilling to believe it.

March of Dimes Research Grants Awarded Only to Top Scientists

By THOMAS M. RIVERS
Vice President-Medical Affairs
The National Foundation

Dr. Albert B. Sabin at his University of Cincinnati laboratory examines samples of his live-virus anti-polio vaccine, developed by him with $1,500,000 in March of Dimes public contributions. Sabin vaccine, to be taken orally instead of by needle, has been approved for eventual use in the U. S.

If there is any one point that we scientists must get across to the "average man" (if there is any such person), it is that conducting a first-rate research program is much more than just giving money indiscriminately to various laboratories.

The way to right giving is selecting the right people to whom to give. This is a most difficult task but it is a job at which The National Foundation has proven itself exceptionally competent.

Research may be said to be a journey into the unknown to push forward the frontiers of knowledge. Inevitably, its nature is such that no man can foretell exactly where it will lead.

But this "average man" to whom we just referred, and who is perhaps dissatisfied with the uncertainties over where research will lead, might be reminded that The National Foundation has shown in the past what it can do—as, for example, initiating the research that developed the Salk and Sabin polio vaccines. This and other major accomplishments constitute the credentials of the world's largest voluntary health organization for going ahead.

Dr. Rivers

A great deal of basic research, of this type, is necessary to journey into the unknown, was needed to create the bases which made possible the development of the polio vaccines. This again will be necessary as The National Foundation moves forward in its expanded program which includes birth defects and arthritis in addition to continued work in polio.

Perhaps you have heard the comment that a camel is a horse put together by a committee. This illuminates what I think is one of the principles of research. Great research is done by great men, not by committees. It is The National Foundation's job, among others, to find those great men, and to see that they have adequate equipment with which to work.

It is natural for the public to want immediate results. For the parents of a child afflicted with arthritis, for instance, to want quick cures is understandable. But we are trustees of public funds. We cannot spend those funds save for projects that have some promise of success conducted by people who have shown what they can do.

If our aims in research could be summed up, I would say it. The National Foundation operates like a rapier, not a bludgeon. We are selective. We put March of Dimes funds in the exact spot and under the specific man who will make the most of it. We do not dump millions into hundreds of projects with a vague hope that by the law of averages some may produce.

In short, we try to be as careful in the selection of research projects as an extremely fussy woman is in selection of a spring hat.

The research future is bright. With laboratory methods that have been developed, many under March of Dimes grants, we can move further and faster than in years past. Indeed, I often think of the polio struggle as a time when we fooled up for what is to come. The instinct that were so successful in that polio challenge are now being applied to the greater challenges that lie ahead.

To accomplish what The National Foundation desires requires great men. We have had them in the past. We shall have them in the future and, with public contributions to the March of Dimes, those men will accomplish much for the good of mankind.

Adult Farm Work Group In Pamplin

The Advisory Committee for Vocational Agriculture in the Pamplin Area recently met with W. Lewis Motley to plan Adult Farmer Classes for this winter. The committee composed of the Agriculture Committee of the Pamplin Ruritan Club and several local farmers made tentative plans for two series of Classes to be held in Pamplin this winter. First there will be a series of Farm Mechanics Repair Classes held in the Pamplin Shop beginning on Monday night January 9th and running every Monday night until the middle of May. Mr. Everett Tibbs will be the instructor for this class which meets in the basement of the Pamplin School.

Secondly, there will be a series of Evening Classes held every Thursday night in the Pamplin School beginning on January 19, 1961. The topic for the first meeting will be "Farmers Income Taxes", with Mr. W. J. Nuckolls, V.P.I. Extension Economist to lead the discussion. "Social Security" will be the second topic on January 26th, with a representative from the Lynchburg Social Security office as leader. All other topics are tentative and will be announced later.

Members of the Advisory Committee are farmers and businessmen in the Pamplin Area. They are: Mr. Luther Nash, Mr. Bob McClenny, Mr. Ed Fore, Mr. Everett Tibbs, Mr. Ed Harvey, Mr. Cecil Ligon, Mr. Bennie Massey, and Mr. Thomas Jamerson. W. Lewis Motley, Vocational Agriculture Instructor of Appomattox High School works with the group.

Social Security Information

By Bud Irby

Does the Social Security Administration have an accurate record of your earnings or self-employment income? You hope so. Your future social security benefits depend on accurate reporting of your earnings, but what are you doing about finding out?

Are you letting this responsibility slide by and hoping that when you retire all of your earnings will have been reported? If you die, are you willing to have your family get by on benefits, or no benefits at all, simply because your employer failed to report your earnings? If you become disabled and cannot work, you are going to need these benefits. Will you get them? All of them?

If you don't know the answers to these questions, you had better start doing something about it — today.

You can protect your valuable old-age, survivors, and disability insurance rights by making sure that your earnings are reported and credited to your social security account regularly. Start by making certain that each and every employer has your full name as shown on your social security card and your correct social security number. You can check your payroll slips or voucher stubs to see that they show your correct name and number, your total earnings, and also that a 3 per cent deduction for social security has been made. This may show as an FICA or CAIB deduction.

If you are self-employed, you can start by showing your full name and correct social security account number on the Schedule SE of your Federal income tax return. You can make sure your correct net earnings are shown and that the tax has been paid.

Wheat Cards Are Mailed

Post card wheat questionnaires have been mailed to all known wheat producers in Appomattox County, the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation county office reports. The purpose of these cards is to enable farmers to report the number of acres seeded to wheat for the 1961 crop and whether the farmer wants price support.

ASC chairman W. D. Hix, III, said that about 1,000 cards have been mailed to wheat farmers. As of this date, 600 cards have been returned.

He strongly urged the remaining farmers to return the cards to help ASC complete the job of determining the 1961 wheat acreage in the county. A certain number of wheat farms in the county will be actually measured by reporters, but ASC will not send reporters to the farms until the post card reports have been returned.

Conservation Short Courses

Dates for the three annual short courses in natural resource conservation in Virginia have been set by the Virginia Resource Use Education Council.

The Council sponsors the short courses in cooperation with the colleges involved.

The short courses will be held June 15 to July 1 at V. P. I., and June 26 to July 24 at Virginia State College, and July 31 to August 18 at William and Mary.

General purposes of the courses is to provide additional training for public school teachers in the wise use and conservation of natural resources.
